Southern Pacific is still said to have Mr. Keene and his following behind it, and they are being mentioned as being in the stock market. The market was busy and the earnings for the September quarter are apparently so generally known that they are not an active factor in the market.

There was a fairly active street bull pool in Missouri Pacific with one of the most conspicuous of the floor traders as its leader. Its market account was steel preferred on the small bulge. It is thought that the old bear account was largely the market out while the stock crossed the earnings for the September quarter.

Active traders were buying Missouri Pacific on the bull side. J. S. Bache & Co., who have been good recent buyers of Amalgamated Copper, were thought to have given up buying orders in that stock in the forenoon.
